GERMAN FORCES APPROACH GREEK CAPITAL

American Nations Reach Agreement on Foreign Ship Use

DEFENDING SOLDIERS PUSHED FAR BACK BY NAZI INVADING ARMY

By The Associated Press

German drive toward Athens suburbs after mechanized forces roar through Thebes, only 30 miles away, and another column advances down the west coast to Mesolongion. British announce "our withdrawal is continuing" in Greece, and Greek press says fight is "very near its end."

Berlin emphasizes end of Greek campaign will not be end of war in eastern Mediterranean. London observers foresee Nazi thrust along whole area from Gibraltar to Indian ocean.

Twenty-one American republics reported on verge of agreement on policy for utilization of more than 160 foreign vessels tied up in American ports. Acting president of Argentina announces he will govern by decree; Buenos Aires reports Paraguay "on verge of political upheaval."

British bombers raid Kiel and other German naval bases; drive Berlin's population into air shelters. Germans heavily bomb northeast English town and hit other points in scattered raids.

By the Associated Press

Athens, Greece, April 26—German troops driving toward Athens have pushed past Thebes, 35 miles from the capital, and also have taken Mesolongion, 100 miles west of Thebes, authoritative Greek quarters announced today.

(Germans earlier said their forces had taken Thebes and smashed past it to within 30 miles of Athens.)

The capture of Mesolongion, the scene of Lord Byron's death in 1824 in the Greek war for independence, means that the German drive down the Adriatic coast in the west—where Greek forces capitulated Tuesday—has reached the Gulf of Patras.

The drive past Thebes indicates that the defending British and Greek forces, hammered by Nazi artillery and Stukas, have been pushed far back along the narrow neck which leads to the Greek capital and the Greek press said the fighting was "very near its end."

Meanwhile the British rear guard retreated doggedly under heavy German artillery fire and dive bombing attacks to the mountains north of the Gulf of Corinth.

The British, though reported inflicting heavy casualties, were said to be in too small force to stop the drive.

The Greeks reported their forces on the island of Lemnos, 40 miles west of the Aegean entrance to Turkey's Dardanelles, still were conducting guerilla operations against a German landing force which seized the island after a fight with Greek gendarmes.

(The Germans said their mechanized forces were within 30 miles of Athens after capturing Thebes, and declared they had hemmed in the British forces between that city and Thermopylae.)

Many German planes ranged over Athens this morning, strafing near-by areas, but the capital itself remained free from aerial attack.

The Greek ministry of home security indicated the Luftwaffe had inflicted heavy losses on shipping.

A New Zealand anti-tank outfit fighting a rear guard action near Mount Oeta, just west of Thermopylae Pass, smashed 23 German tanks.

BRITISH LAUNCH AIR ATTACK ON KIEL NAVY BASE

London, April 26.—(P)—British bombers launched a heavy attack on the German naval base at Kiel last night and struck lighter blows at Berlin, Bremerhaven, Wilhelmshaven, Emden, Lubeck and Friederichstadt, the ministry of information said today.

The Luftwaffe, at the same time, concentrated on northeast English town (identified by the Germans as Newcastle), giving it its heaviest pounding of the war. Casualties were feared heavy.

The RAF also bombed oil stores at Rotterdam, the information ministry said, and scored direct hits on two supply ships in convoy west of Helgoland in daylight yesterday.

At Kiel, the ministry declared, "bombs burst in the shipyards and fires broke out." The attack on Berlin was the 40th of the war.

A later air ministry communiqué said the RAF attacked the German island of Baltrum, bombing a factory. Railway tracks between Middelburg and Flushing on the Island of Walcheren were hit and railroads and two wireless stations in Denmark also suffered bomb damage, the communiqué said.

The RAF supplemented the bombing of land objectives with their usual search for Axis shipping and reported hitting one vessel in the canal between Rotterdam and the North Sea from a height of 25 feet.

Other planes attacked a heavily armed convoy of three ships from a low altitude west of Helgoland, setting the largest of the three on fire and "almost certainly" destroying it, the air ministry announced. Another vessel was declared

Any German drive on the Suez Canal will have to be a land and air campaign, for British warships still control the eastern Mediterranean. Map shows highways and railroads Nazi troops would probably use for a pincer assault on Suez from positions now held in Greece and Libya.

DROP PROPOSAL FOR GRADUATED TAX ON INCOME

Harrisburg, April 26.—(P)—Proposals to amend Pennsylvania's constitution so that a graduated income tax might be imposed have been dropped by leaders of both the House and Senate, spokesman for both branches disclosed today.

Senate Republicans discussed at length in caucus this week the bill for such a tax introduced by Senator George W. Woodward (R-Phila.) and an authority said the consensus was definitely against it.

Senate Woodward made the motion himself to return the measure to committee, a strong indication of his willingness for the present to forego the matter. He has introduced similar bills in the past four legislative sessions.

A graded income and inheritance tax bill also has been presented.

SETS MAY 17TH FOR DECISION IN MURDER CASE

Clarion, April 26.—(P)—Taking under advisement demands of the commonwealth for the death penalty and of the defense for clemency, Judge Harry M. Rimer announced he would render a decision May 17 in the bizarre murder case against Frank Leroy Deroilph, 43.

Deroilph, a Youngstown, O., mechanic, pleaded guilty to the fatal shooting of his uncle, Reuben L. Wentling, last December, saying he believed Wentling responsible for the death of his (Deroilph's) father 28 years previous. The court heard evidence to fix the degree of guilt.

The defendant insisted throughout that the killing of Ronald Wentling, 12, at the time the elder Wentling was shot, was accidental.

In closing arguments yesterday, District Attorney W. P. Geary said the court "could not impose other than the supreme penalty."

He asserted that two psychiatrists had found Deroilph was "not delusioned" and knew what he was doing at the time of the shooting.

Burgess R. R. Whitmer of Clarion, chief defense counsel, argued that Deroilph's mental illness, dating back to 1930 when he suffered a blood clot on the brain, "should be the determining factor" in Judge Rimer's decision.

WILLIE MAKES PLEA FOR UNITY

Pittsburgh, April 26.—(P)—Urging the American people to be tolerant of individual opinions, Wendell Willkie last night made a plea for "national unity in one of the most critical periods in the United States."

The 1940 Republican presidential candidate spoke at a fund-raising dinner of the Y. M. C. A.

"These are stressful times," he said. "Times when men's passions become aroused. I beg of you—I plead with you that in discussions we exercise the utmost tolerance of views opposed to us."

"I believe only if the United States stands unified—and America must stand unified—can we save this blessed freedom we have in this country."

Defense Mediation Board Calls on General Motors And United Automobile Workers to Continue Production Pending Efforts to Settle Threatened Strike in Plants

SOFT COAL STOPPAGE STILL BIG PROBLEM

Washington, April 26.—(P)—Probable intensification of German raider operations against British shipping this spring and summer was viewed by naval experts today as one of the principal reasons underlying a far-flung extension of the American neutrality patrol.

Informed quarters expressed belief that with the arrival of more dependable weather, Nazi surface raiders and ocean-going submarines would range ever farther to the west to attack munitions ships from Canada and the United States at points where England's navy and shore-based aircraft would be least able to protect them.

Extension of the lines of the neutrality patrol as disclosed by President Roosevelt at his press conference yesterday was interpreted in some quarters as indicating a decision to make virtually the entire western half of the Atlantic as safe as possible for British convoys—but without actually assigning 400,000 miners idle since April 1.

W. H. Davis, vice chairman of the board, sent identical telegrams to Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., chairman of the board of General Motors, Charles E. Wilson, president of the company; R. J. Thomas, international president of the UAW; and Walter P. Reuther, director of the General Motors department of the UAW, all in Detroit.

Labor Secretary Perkins certified the dispute to the board last night, shortly after the CIO United Automobile Workers announced in Detroit that local unions in 60 of the corporation's 61 plants over the nation had voted to authorize a walkout. There are about 160,000 workers on the General Motors payroll.

Important industries began scrapping the bottoms of their coal bins as a result of the bituminous mine tie-up which has kept some 400,000 miners idle since April 1.

Industrialists declared that steel production and railroad service would have to be curtailed in the event the mines remained shut down much longer.

The mediation board's special coal panel called for further hearings.

TAX ON COFFEE AND SUGAR MAY BE NECESSARY

Washington, April 26.—(P)—Proposals for taxation of coffee, sugar and other foodstuffs met with little enthusiasm in Congress today but legislators said the grave international situation might largely outweigh usual political objections to such levies as the raising of $3,500,000,000 of new revenue.

Experts on the staff of the joint congressional committee on taxation suggested yesterday that consideration be given to a levy of five cents a pound on coffee and one cent a pound on sugar, as part of a long list of excises designed to raise $661,000,000.

Most members of the House ways and means committee said they desired to await the reaction of the public to the suggestions. Open hearings on the recommendations of the treasury department and the suggestions of the congressional tax experts will begin Monday.

Excise levies suggested for consideration by the joint committee's staff included a one percent tax on new insurance premiums; a $5 annual tax on the use of automobiles, yachts and airplanes, and varying levies on electric light bulbs, pari-mutuel machines, bookmakers, slot machines and oil used for motor fuel.

These imposts would be in addition to a long list of excise taxes recommended by the treasury department along with its proposals for drastically higher surtaxes on individual incomes and boosts in corporation and excess profits taxes.

At the same time he announced that members of the Canadian Reserve Army called up for four months of compulsory military training under the national mobilization act would be held for active service in Canada on completion of their training period.

NEUTRALITY PATROL EXTENSION ORDERED

Washington, April 26.—(P)—Representatives of the 21 American republics recommended today that their nations take over the more than 160 foreign vessels idle in their ports and use them "to promote peace and security of the continent."

The recommendation was by the Inter-American Financial and Economic Advisory Committee and the action was announced by Sumner Welles, undersecretary of the United States Department of State and chairman of the group.

Foreign Minister Guina of Uruguay originated the proposal.

The recommendation, which will now be transmitted to the various American governments, covers three points:

1. The committee recommends that the governments declare that foreign flag vessels immobilized in their ports by the war may now be utilized either through agreement with owners or by virtue of the right of each government to take control of such vessels as "they may deem it convenient to satisfy their own requirements."

2. That just and adequate compensation be made in accordance with the commonly accepted rules of international law and the national legislature of each republic.

3. That the American nations reaffirm their full right to navigation of those vessels both in their national and international trade.

The inter-American ship discussions followed closely two other

SENTENCED FOR HOMICIDE PLOT

Waynesburg, April 26.—(P)—Robert Headley, 49-year-old gas field worker convicted of plotting to kill his wife, was sentenced today to 3½ to seven years in Western Penitentiary.

Judge Challen W. Waychoff also fined Headley $100 and ordered him to pay the costs of his trial last month on charges of assault and battery with intent to kill and conspiracy to murder.

Mrs. Otis Cumberledge, 35-year-old widow who admitted a seven-year romance with Headley, and her sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Pettit, previously had pleaded guilty to conspiracy and assault and were sentenced to terms at the State Industrial School for Women at Munsey.

Credits Newspapers With Giving Story Of Vitamins' Value

"Great credit for the wave of public interest in vitamins belongs to American newspapers," declared Philip W. Pillsbury, president of Pillsbury's Flour Mills Company today.

The splendid work newspapers are doing in telling about vitamins in news stories and special articles," said Mr. Pillsbury, "is helping materially in creating a public understanding of the relationship between adequate national defense and a properly nourished public.

That is why government authorities and the National Research Council recommended the enrichment of flour with B-vitamins and iron as the first and most important step in increasing the health value of the average American diet. American millers of course, are gladly doing their part in this essential defense work."

Mr. Pillsbury, whose own organization is in 24-hour production of enriched flour, is acting as an adviser to the National Research Council.

WARREN BANKS TO COOPERATE IN BOND SALE

The three banks of Warren have joined thousands of other banks throughout the country in volunteering their services without compensation in connection with the widespread program for defense financing, according to announcement made today by a spokesman for the three banks. The First National Bank, Warren National Bank, and Warren Bank & Trust Company.

After making application promptly they received yesterday afternoon the official qualification to act in distribution of defense bonds which are to be offered for public subscription beginning May 1, 1941. Earlier this week the three banks applied for, and they have now received the Series E bonds, which are handled direct by the banks, in denominations at maturity in the amounts of $25, $50, $100, $500, and $1,000. These are purchased at a discount price of $18.75, $37.50, $75, $375, and $750, and mature ten years from the date of issue, providing an interest return of 2 9/16%.

The banks will also obtain from the Post Office Department, and have available for their customers, a supply of Defense Postal Savings Stamps, and the books for them so that savers of small amounts can accumulate the funds to buy the Series E Defense Bonds.

Series F and Series G bonds are purchased direct from the Federal Reserve Banks, and orders for these can be taken at any one of the local banks and forwarded to the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland. Series F bonds mature in twelve years, and have an interest return of 2 5/8%, and are purchased likewise at a discount price. Series G bonds also mature in twelve years, and are issued at par with the interest paid by Treasury check at a rate of 2 5/8% per year.

Detailed information about the purchase of defense bonds may be obtained at any of the Warren banks, who expect to do their full share in this phase of cooperation with the defense program. The record of Warren during World War I in 1917-1918 was outstanding through the distribution of an exceptionally large amount of the Liberty Bonds issued at that time in which this city received much acclaim for the large subscription in proportion to its population and it is hoped that an equally prominent part will be played at this time, so that we can again be proud of Warren's record in time of emergency.

CANCER CONTROL WILL BE THEME OF HEALTH DAY

In conjunction with the annual Health Day observance on May 1, sponsored locally by the Warren County Medical Society and Auxiliary, a nationwide educational drive is under way on the chosen theme "Control of Cancer."

This year's observance is planned in cooperation with the Women's Field Army of the American Society for the Control of Cancer, and health authorities of the entire nation are joining in efforts to broaden the scope of understanding of the disease.

Recognition of cancer and treatment of it before it has a chance to spread are objectives for which all should strive in the opinion of Irvin J. Abell, M. D., chairman of the health and medical committee of the federal security administration and former president of the American College of Surgeons.

Dr. Abell points out that cancer in its beginning is invariably a local process and that with early recognition and prompt destruction by surgery, x-rays, or radium, the cancer comes to an end. Cure depends, he says, on the three factors of early diagnosis, involvement of an accessible organ and treatment demonstrated by time and experience to be effective.

Dr. Abell is acting as liaison officer between the government and organized medicine in relation to the national defense program.

One of the important features of the local observance, which will be held in the high school auditorium at 8:15 o'clock and is open to the public, will be the showing of a motion picture "Choose to Live." This deals with the theme of this year's observance and should be seen by every person interested in the health of the individual and society.

Pittsburgh, April 26—(P)—Struck by a load of 10-inch pipe he was moving with a power crane, Garrett Jones, 28, was killed at the Blaw-Knox Company plant Thursday. The company's piping division reported the accident was its first in two years.

BOYS' TOWN

Harrisburg, April 26—(P)—Major Henry C. Hill, superintendent of Pennsylvania's new industrial school for boys at nearby White Hill, said today construction of a $350,000 industries building would begin within 30 days.

He added most of the actual work would be done by the boys themselves, under supervision. This plan, he said, would save the state approximately $100,000 in labor and at the same time would give the boys valuable experience in skilled trades.

Youngsville Man Pleads Not Guilty To Liquor Theft

George Dalrymple, 38, of Youngsville, pleaded not guilty to a charge of burglary and larceny, when arraigned this morning before Justice of the Peace T. M. Greenlund. The Youngsville man was arrested yesterday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff L. E. Linder, Youngsville Police Chief Frank L. Dunkle and Private Leslie Fobes, of the State Motor Police.

The officers allege that Dalrymple broke into the Swanson Restaurant on Main street in Youngsville and stole a quantity of beer and liquor.

CANCER CONTROL WILL BE THEME OF HEALTH DAY

In conjunction with the annual Health Day observance on May 1, sponsored locally by the Warren County Medical Society and Auxiliary, a nationwide educational drive is under way on the chosen theme "Control of Cancer."

This year's observance is planned in cooperation with the Women's Field Army of the American Society for the Control of Cancer, and health authorities of the entire country are joining in efforts to broaden the scope of understanding of the disease.

Recognition of cancer and treatment of it before there is a chance to spread are objectives for which all should strive, in the opinion of Irvin J. Abell, M. D., chairman of the health and medical committee of the federal security administration and former president of the American College of Surgeons.

Dr. Abell points out that cancer in its beginning "is invariably a local process" and that with early recognition and prompt destruction by surgery, x-rays, or radium, the cancer comes to an end. Cure depends, he says, on the three factors of early diagnosis, involvement of an accessible organ and treatment demonstrated by time and experience to be effective.

Detailed information about the purchase of defense bonds may be obtained at any of the Warren banks, who expect to do their full share in this phase of cooperation with the defense program.

One of the important features of the local observance, which will be held in the high school auditorium at 8:15 o'clock and is open to the public, will be the showing of a motion picture, "Choose to Live." This deals with the theme of this year's observance and should be seen by every person interested in the health of the individual and society.

Someday I'll Find You

BY MARGARET WIDDEMEYER

YESTERDAY: Things are going well with Eileen Gardner, whose songs over the air are highly popular. But there are flaws—Jordan Estill, whom she has sent away, was one. He had been determined to marry her, and it took strength to break off, because only a memory of Martin remains to replace him—Martin, whose last name Eileen does not know. Now her roommate, Molly, is warning her that Mr. Weigand, manager of the station, is a half-hearted Don Juan.

Chapter 11

New York Hears

EILEEN first stared, then laughed.
"You mean—you mean that mousy frightened little Mr. Weigand, who adores Martha so that when she isn't here he holds any other hand—"

"That's what I mean. He adores her just that way. Any other hand. Yours. Mine."

"Good heavens. He's no temptation."

"Not to me. But Martha sees me like that."

Eileen said, even while she dug in her trunk, which, draped in a Spanish shawl, stood against one wall and wasn't unlike a seat if covered, they hoped. "Molly, that's so impossible!"

"All right. Anyway, put up the photographs. If you don't want to keep the rose under the hand-somest, I'll do it myself."

Eileen set them out—there was no lack of them, girls and men, groups and singles.

"This is he, Molly said solemnly, and thereupon dug a Woolworth spray of daisies and a small glass vase from her own possessions and set them before Jordan Estill's picture.

Eileen forgot all about it, for she was very busy. That is, sometimes, seeing the daisies gathering dust just under Jordan's well-covered chin, she laughed, diving in and out of the sunny cement-walled room.

Forgot it so completely, that when Mr. Weigand slipped his hand mechanically into hers, if they happened to be near each other, half the time she left it. He looked so hurt when she took it away that she felt like somebody being rude to a child.

The thing which was most important to her blotted everything out for a while. The cable to Martin. She had used, flippantly, like everybody else, a phrase about being "all burned up." She knew now what it meant. She was burned up about the cable.

And there was no answer.

She said to Molly finally, after a fortnight of waiting, "What happens when there isn't anybody to take a cable? Don't the company tell you they couldn't deliver it or something?"

"If it isn't delivered."

That was true. It had been delivered. Naturally. Martin was on the boat. But he hadn't wired again.

Of course he hadn't . . . and yet—he still might.

So it was an Eileen with seven eighths of her mind on something far removed from singing, records, anything in the world but her own affairs, who strayed into the recording room in response to message about one of her songs. "Something important," the messenger told her.

Little Mr. Weigand was fussing with the phonograph in a corner.

"I want you to listen to a couple of your own recordings," he said.

"What for?"

He smiled mysteriously. "I'll tell you later, or Martha will," he said. "We're both all excited about it."

She sat back. She listened. There didn't seem to be much point to hearing herself sing: "Just Awearyin' for You," and "You Are My Lucky Star." They sounded all right; that is, they sounded like somebody else's voice with occasional touches of familiarity.

Casanova

MR. WEIGAND took them off MI and came over to her, beaming.

"We got a wire from one of the big New York studios today." He named it.

Eileen sat up, all her indifference gone.

"You know, we send them recordings from time to time, to keep them interested. You never know."

She nodded.

"Well, my dear, they wire that they'd like to rent these two recordings!"

He beamed with innocent joy.

"They do?"

"Yes, I knew you'd be glad to hear it."

She waited, but that was all.

"But—Mr. Weigand—don't I get any royalty from that?"

Mr. Weigand cleared his throat.

"Well, now, my dear—you know how we are fixed here. It takes all we have to carry the station. And Martha and I take it for granted that you young people are as interested in the cause of art as we are. We try to choose only real enthusiasts."

"In other words," Eileen said,

CARELESS USE OF FORESTS IS CAUSE OF FIRES

An analysis of 488 forest fires on the National Forests in the Eastern Region of the U. S. Forest Service has revealed some interesting information as to how these fires were started. Supervisor R. Careless smokers head the list with 31 per cent of all fires. Twenty-one per cent of the fires are deliberately set, usually under the mistaken belief that the forests should be burned annually.

Mr. Elmquist is enlisting a committee to assist him in the solicitation of firms and employees classified in his division.

The chairmanship of the Merchantile Division has been accepted by T. L. Armstrong, Mr. Wroth announced today. Solicitation in this group will begin next Wednesday morning following a meeting of executives of the larger retail establishments in the borough.

WARREN RESIDENTS TO TURN CLOCKS AHEAD AT MIDNIGHT

Warren residents, in common with those in nearly 300 other communities throughout Pennsylvania, will turn their clocks ahead one hour before retiring tonight because of the change to daylight saving time, which will be in effect for the next four months.

In most communities "fast time" will begin officially at 2 a.m. Sunday and will continue until 2 a.m. on September 28. However, getting a two-hour "jump" on the remainder of the state, Warren changes officially at midnight tonight, and will return to standard time at midnight on September 27th.

Practically every community in the county, with the possible exception of Tiddule, will go on daylight saving time. Sugar Grove residents are voting today on the question.

Throughout northwestern Pennsylvania most cities are changing to daylight saving time, many of them for the first time since the first World War. Franklin, Oil City and Titusville are among these.

Other communities in the section which will use "fast time" include Bradford, Cambridge Springs, Clarion, Corry, Erie, Franklin, Kane, Mt. Jewett, Titusville and Union City. In both Bradford and Union City, residents will move their clocks back to standard time on September 1.

The Break

IT WAS all nearly insane. Eileen felt as if she was in a world standing on its head.

"You mean," she said mercifully, "that you suppose that funny little man is so attractive that girls my age can fall for him—and that you are willing to use it?"

Someone else clattered in.

"Eileen—" Molly called. "Been looking for you everywhere. Message." She waved it. "What's the matter?"

"The matter is, you were right and I was wrong," Eileen said. "This dreadful little old man thinks I'm crazy over him. And his wife thinks I am, too—and singing here—" Eileen began to laugh—"for love of him!"

"My husband admitted to me that he was interested—" Mrs. Weigand shouted.

"But you showed me you cared—" Mr. Weigand began, still piteously.

Molly Flanagan put an arm around her friend's waist.

"Come along, kid. Same old game. It happens regularly once a season. Martha has to believe she owns the tops in glamour boys, and Weigand just sort of keeps himself and her fooled about it, I guess that's all. Last year it was a waitress, fortunately."

"Look here, Weigand—" Molly turned on the couple, her eyes as flaming as her hair—"Don't you think you're pretty dumb to pick up on your fans' pet radio singer? Not to speak of she's engaged to one of the pros in the university, and a girl with lots of backing and position? What goes on, anyway, that you got crazy with the desert heat and didn't make it a dishwasher—or even a washwoman's child like me? Pipe down!"

Mrs. Weigand, unbelievably, did pipe down.

"If Eileen is engaged," she said, going back to her accustomed stateliness, "I can forgive and understand her—ah—girlish infatuations. We were all a little excited, dear. Shall we forgive and forget?"

She beamed at Eileen.

Eileen took two steps toward the pile of records on the phonograph. She picked up the records, and carefully threw them on the floor and stamped on them.

"I certainly shan't," she said.

"In fact, you will have to find somebody else for the evening song hour. I'm going back to Denver tonight. You can hire any boy's car to take me."

The Weigands began to argue together and at once. Eileen turned to leave the room. Mrs. Weigand darted after her, screaming in her ear.

"You can't do anything of the sort! You have a contract!"

"What about the recordins?"

"We'll add something to the contract for them," Mrs. Weigand begged.

"Don't bother. I'm going."

The Soong Sisters by Emily Hahn and Women of the Bible by H. V. Morton were presented in memory of Mrs. Wesley J. Richards.

Emily Hahn's picture of these three courageous, determined and charming Chinese sisters, Madame Kung, Madame Sun Yat-sen, and Madame Chiang Kai-shek, makes a heart-warming book one cannot readily forget. It is not only a revealing biography of the three greatest women in China but an excellent study of modern China.

The Pastor and Modern Missions by John R. Mott was presented in memory of Levi Smith. It is based on studies in the archives of the Buonarroti family at Florence and is filled with valuable matter on the history and spirit of Michelangelo's times.

Scenic Studies of the Bible Background by Sophie M. Nichols was presented in memory of Mrs. Levi Smith. The author has succeeded in her effort to supply material for the graphic construction of the stories of the Bible.

New meaning is revealed through such a knowledge of the scenic background and customs of the Holy Land.

All of these books are at present on display and will be released for circulation Thursday, May 12.

Eleven Verse Plays by Maxwell Anderson was presented in memory of Richard G. Dawson. The verse plays of this American playwright have carried their own beauty and eloquence across the footlights to enrich immeasurably our modern theatre. A sense of first-language and high imaginative experience characterize these plays of the decade from 1929 to 1939.

Decorating is Fun by Dorothy Draper was presented in memory of Mrs. John T. Newell. It is unique and delightful book presenting a new approach to interior decorating. Dorothy Draper, noted for her ingenuity and leadership in the field of decorating and design shows in a practical, definite and yet vivid way how to be your own decorator and enjoy doing it.

The Pastor and Modern Missions by John R. Mott was presented in memory of Levi Smith. It is a plea for leadership in world evangelization by a man who is known throughout the world for his own leadership in Christian work.

Other causes were as follows: Lightning 3 per cent, railroads 10 per cent, campers 7 per cent, lumbering 2 per cent, and miscellaneous such as burning buildings, children with matches, and the like, 10 per cent.

It is readily seen, he said, that our success in protecting the forest from the ravages of fires depends upon the whole-hearted cooperation of the public. Everyone who likes to hunt and fish or hike in the woods should form the habit of breaking his match, stamping out cigarettes and drowning out camp fires. Let's keep the Allegheny green.

NEW DRAGONETTE

"Men Wanted" is the banner on the weekly issue of the high school Dragonette, out Friday, and the lead story deals with the discovery that there are not sufficient young men with training in typing, shorthand and other commercial subjects to fill positions offered them at the school. A survey of what new subjects should be taught in the high school is also of interest, several stressing the importance of Spanish in relation to Pan-American interests.

WARREN RESIDENTS TO TURN CLOCKS AHEAD AT MIDNIGHT

Warren residents, in common with those in nearly 300 other communities throughout Pennsylvania, will turn their clocks ahead one hour before retiring tonight because of the change to daylight saving time, which will be in effect for the next four months.

In most communities "fast time" will begin officially at 2 a. m. Sunday and will continue until 2 a. m. on September 28. However, getting a two-hour "jump" on the remainder of the state, Warren changes officially at midnight tonight, and will return to standard time at midnight on September 27th.

Practically every community in the county, with the possible exception of Tidioute, will go on daylight saving time. Sugar Grove residents are voting today on the question.

Throughout northwestern Pennsylvania most cities are changing to daylight saving time, many of them for the first time since the first World War. Franklin, Oil City and Titusville are among these.

Other communities in the section which will use "fast time" include Bradford, Cambridge Springs, Clarion, Corry, Erie, Franklin, Kane, Mt. Jewett, Titusville and Union City. In both Bradford and Union City, residents will move their clocks back to standard time on September 1.

Large Number of New Memorial Books at Warren Public Library

New memorial books presented to the public library this week include The Soong Sisters by Emily Hahn; Eleven Verse Plays by Maxwell Anderson; Decorating Is Fun by Dorothy Draper; Women of the Bible by H. V. Morton; The Pastor and Modern Missions by R. R. Mott; The Life of Michelangelo Buonarroti by John Addington Symonds and Scenic Studies of the Bible Background by Sophie M. Nichols.

The Soong Sisters by Emily Hahn and Women of the Bible by H. V. Morton were presented in memory of Mrs. Wesley J. Richards. Emily Hahn's picture of these three courageous, determined and charming Chinese sisters, Madame Kung, Madame Sun Yat-sen, and Madame Chiang Kai-shek, makes a heart-warming book one cannot readily forget. It is not only a revealing biography of the three greatest women in China but an excellent study of modern China.

H. V. Morton, considered by many the greatest living travel writer, approaches the fascinating theme of the women of the Bible with a freshness as if he were writing about living women. The book is as thoroughly readable as his previous works and promises to have a large following of readers.

"I certainly shan't," she said. "In fact, you will have to find somebody else for the evening song hour. I'm going back to Denver tonight, if I can hire anybody's car to take me."

The Weigands began to argue together and at once. Eileen turned to leave the room. Mrs. Weigand darted after her, screaming in her ear.

"You can't do anything of the sort! You have a contract!"

"What about the recordings?" Eileen demanded.

"We'll add something to the contract for them," Mrs. Weigand begged.

"Don't bother. I'm going."

CELEBRATIONS HELP TRADE!

The continuous, consistent efforts of local retailers to make Warren the trading center for an ever-widening area are bearing fruit, according to H. W. "The report states," he says, "that in a list of eighty towns, from Philadelphia down to small hamlets, Warren stands third with a retail expenditure of $889.67 for every man, woman and child in the borough in the year 1939, the last year of record. This indicates, naturally that a great amount of purchasing is done here by people of other communities, and proves that Warren is increasing in importance as a trading center."

According to the report, the highest-ranking community in retail purchases was Jenkintown, (population 5,024) where the per capita expenditure was $1,751.19 and the second was Somerset (population 5,430) with a per capita expenditure of $945.48.

"Since the efforts of the merchants to increase trade here benefit every one indirectly," says the local secretary, "their efforts deserve the support of their fellow citizens. Every family from the neighboring district who comes here to enjoy our festivities, is a good prospect as a customer for Warren, and every person who makes his shopping town is worth $750 annually to the business houses of the town. It pays to make friends with our neighbors."

"The splendid projects sponsored and managed by our Citizens' Committee do much to convert people of the surrounding territory to Warren as a desirable and convenient trading center, and the men who work so hard and faithfully on these projects should have the commendation and assistance of every Warren citizen," Mr. Correll declares.

Continuing his comments on trade expansion, the secretary says that there is a place in such projects for every one in Warren. "Every man, woman and child who assists in the coming 'America on Parade' pageant will be doing valuable community promotion work, for the event will bring tens of thousands of strangers here to become acquainted with Warren and its attractions. He has a Constant Companion, one who will be with him all the time. If he chooses, there never need be a moment without Christ, this Constant Companion even to the end of the world. This companion will be with him in all his trials, troubles and sorrows. Truly, we can find cause for rejoicing in these words.

There is need for such a companion in the world in which you and I are living. Drastic changes come almost every night. This is a time when we are often confused. We are uncertain what steps to take in our everyday life. We hardly know what is best. The right course today may be of no avail tomorrow. But the Christian is assured of guidance. Then again, this is a strenuous age. It calls for courage and daring to cope with it. One must be determined, and so many are tempted to weaker. The Christian, however, is armed with Paul: "When I am weak, then am I strong." That is, he is furnished by his constant companion.

Philip Brooks has made a very helpful suggestion. He said: "If mankind were to be led into the cradle of death, it might be by an angel flying overhead, or it might be by a man who despises them. Millions of men who would have lost sight of God, would follow the fellow-man. He bears every difficulty first. He bears every difficulty. He takes it away by bearing them, so that He does not have to bear them at all." Truly that is just what our constant companion does for us. Will you choose Him for your companion? Will you leave the worries and troubles which destroy your peace of mind?

Prayer: Oh Thou Christ, who walks with us along the rough path of life, we need Thee with us every day. Let us rest in Thy blessed companionship today and every day until we reach the very end. Amen.

YOUR NATION'S CAPITOL

Hill and art gallery and museum and diplomatic row and

Washington, April 26—Downtown Washington is dotted with parks, squares and circles where the diagonal streets intersect. Bits of greenward with curving walks.
Big trees and flowerbeds and inevitable monuments of past big shots and heroes, forgotten generals on or off horseback who are remembered only by unknown descendants of patriotic societies that come out in faded glory to lay a wreath and say a word.

These little parks give the city much of its color and charm, make it a real capital with a cosmopolitan air and graciously give a touch of spaciousness that would be sorely missed on hot days when the southern sun beats down mercilessly.

Yardless houses, packed wall to wall and without cross ventilation for block on block may typically close-knit friendliness, but they would be both formidable and uncomfortable without the breaks for a circle or square to confuse the stranger and ball up traffic.
Washington, therefore uses and blesses these parks even while cursing them.

It's on bright Sundays, though that these parks get their heaviest workout. People who can't escape the city by car come there to read, feed the pigeons and squirrels, and make-believe they're having a day in the country. On these informal Sunday firsts you see a

STUNNING LONG-WAISTED FROCK

Pattern 4713

By ANNE ADAMS
If you're young and full of that "glad-to-be-alive" spirit, here's the dress for you! Pattern 4713 by Anne Adams is designed with all the head-turning newness that makes fashion such fun—yet it shows tasteful simplicity, too. You'll like the beautiful treatment of the popular long-waisted effect. Two panels go down the front bodice to the waist, where they widen out to form a smooth slim yoke. The back bodice has a single panel for perfect fit. There's softening for your bust-line in gathering at the side-bodice sections. Take your choice between a deep V-shaped neck with button trim and a round, high neckline with a button-opening down the front. If you want a really dramatic effect, you might try the front panels and the waist-yoke in a vivid, singing color.

Pattern 4713 is available in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. Size 16 takes 3½ yards 39 inch fabric.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15¢) in coins for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly SIZE, NAME, ADDRESS and STYLE NUMBER.

You'll need plenty of wardrobe variety for warm days to come, so order the Anne Adams Pattern Book TODAY! Its colorful pages show smart individual styles for everyone—each quickly available in a simple-to-use pattern.

To Carry on Vital Shipping

(From Page One) important moves designed to relieve severe tonnage shortages and insure the safety of American ships on the high seas:

1. President Roosevelt disclosed that the navy's neutrality patrol has been extended to any place in the seven seas considered necessary to protect the western hemisphere.

2. The House prepared to act on legislation authorizing the president to take over foreign vessels in the United States ports and put them to any use. The bill was approved by the House merchant marine committee yesterday.

The 5,400,000 gross tons of British shipping lost since the beginning of the war and dislocation of other shipping services as a result of the conflict have created a critical shortage in ships serving South and Central American countries.

Under the proposed plan, originally formulated by Foreign Minister Guani of Uruguay, the 21 American republics would uphold the right of each American nation to take over vessels of belligerent countries lying idle in its ports and operate them in service vital to the nation's economy, particularly in the maintenance of inter-American trade.

After a "pool" of ships sufficient to meet the American nation's shipping requirements has been set aside for operation—largely in the western hemisphere—it was said the plan would permit surplus tonnage to be sold or chartered to Great Britain or other nations.

The United States has taken 69 idle vessels (39 Danish, 28 Italian and two German) into "custody" and is expected to turn at least some of them over to Great Britain if Congress authorizes the president to take action.

In South and Central American ports, it was said, there are an additional 96 Axis vessels and an unreported number of French and Danish ships which might be utilized under the plan.

The number of ships available would be considerably increased if the plan were extended to include the 14 French ships in United States ports and the undisclosed number of French and Danish vessels in South and Central American ports. However, Gaston Henry-Haye, the French ambassador, after conferring with Undersecretary of State Welles, said it was his "understanding" that no such action was contemplated with regard to French vessels.

Welles was to preside at the inter-American committee's session today.

Attempt to Avert Walkout

(From Page One) ings today in an effort to gain a swift settlement of the dispute between the CIO United Mine Workers and coal operators in both the Southern and Northern Appalachians.

All participants in the first sessions yesterday were silent on the progress made, but informed sources said that the union had given no indication of receding in its demands for a $7-a-day wage throughout the industry.

The uniform wage proposal was the crux of the controversy. Northern operators reportedly agreed to raise the rate from $6 to $7 if the southern group would pay the same amount.

The latter, now paying $5.60, has objected to wiping out the differential.

After the board had dismissed the northern representatives and the union negotiators last night, it held the southern group for several hours' additional conference.

The General Motors dispute revolves around union demands for a closed shop, a 10-cent-an-hour wage increase, revised powers for a labor umpire and changes in the shop steward system.

General Motors has about $700,000 in defense contracts. Union officials have said that workers on defense jobs would not be called out in event of a strike, but company executives assert it would be impossible to segregate defense and non-defense work in the plants.

With bituminous mines idle for 26 days, the dwindling coal supply began to affect industry.

Defense officials said that steel production, now at 95 per cent of plant capacity, would have to be reduced to 85 per cent next week and to 60 per cent the following week, for lack of fuel.

C. H. Buford, vice president of the Association of American Railroads, said: "Some of the roads are going to get pretty short by the end of one more week. Another week, and some of the service probably will have to be curtailed."

Virginia members of Congress sent the mediation board an appeal from the State Corporation Commission for assistance in alleviating a threatened suspension of some local passenger service.

The War Department was said to have been informed by 33 defense plants that they had only a few days' supply of coal on hand.

Officials of the Glenn L. Martin Aircraft Company at Baltimore, Maryland, reported that plant operations were continuing despite the calling of a strike by the CIO United Automobile Workers.

The rule of good nutrition says two fruits each day. Fruits are the most valuable for the minerals and vitamins which they add to the diet.

To supplement canned fruits and fresh fruits, Mrs. Thelma Prendergast, home economics extension representative, Warren County, suggests dried fruits such as apricots, peaches, and prunes. These are excellent foods.

In minerals, especially iron, dried fruits, outshine the corresponding fresh fruits weight for weight. Dried apricots and peaches are very rich in iron, and dates, figs, prunes and raisins also supply this essential mineral. Besides their mineral content, dried fruits are rich in certain vitamins. Dried apricots and yellow peaches are rich in vitamin A.

It's easy to cook dried fruits. However, there is a right way to cook any dried fruit—a quick way to make the fruit plump and juicy. Simply wash the fruit and put it in a saucepan, cover with hot water, and let soak for about an hour. Then put the fruit on to cool in the same water. Cook for about a half hour, or until tender. Dried fruits may be served warm or cold.

Starting at the beginning of the day, dried fruits fit smoothly into the breakfast menu as the fruit course, or to change the flavor of the cooked cereal. Dates, figs, prunes, and raisins are especially good with cereals.

Breads, both yeast and quick, take on new flavor when you add dried fruits to the dough or batter. And in turn these breads make delicious and nutritious sandwiches for the school lunch box or dainty morsels for the afternoon tea.

Dried fruits are adaptable for making a variety of desserts, from upside-down cakes, to dumplings, turnovers, shortcakes or fruit wines.

Stuffed prunes are a good salad ingredient when combined with colorful canned fruit. Take cooked prunes, cut a list in the side of each to take out the pit, and fill the center with peanut butter, cream cheese, or cottage cheese. Other dried fruits may be substituted for prunes in attractive salads.

Dried fruit confection is excellent for children. It provides necessary sweetness besides giving extra value in the way of minerals and vitamins. Here is how Mrs. Prendergast suggests making fruit confection:

1 pound prunes, 1 pound dates, 1 pound figs, 1 pound seedless raisins, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, and ½ teaspoon salt. Wash all the fruit. Remove the pits from the prunes and dates. Grind the fruit in the food chopper, using the finest knife. Add lemon juice and salt. Stir well. Let stand overnight. Make into small balls or sandwiches, roll in powdered sugar, and chill until slightly thickened. Beat until light and foamy.

Beat white of egg stiff and fold in. Pour into baked pastry shell and chill in refrigerator until firm. Garnish with whipped cream before serving. Serves 6.

GRAPEFRUIT CHIFFON PIE

This easy-to-make dessert is "baked" in the refrigerator:

1 No. 2 can Florida grapefruit sections

½ cup water
1 package lemon-flavored gelatin
½ cup sugar
1 egg white
1 9-inch pastry shell
½ cup cream, whipped

Drain grapefruit sections, reserving juice. Combine 1 cup of juice and water; beat. Dissolve gelatin in the hot liquid. Add sugar and stir until dissolved. Cut the grapefruit sections into small pieces, add to gelatin mixture and chill until slightly thickened. Beat until light and foamy.

Beat white of egg stiff and fold in. Pour into baked pastry shell and chill in refrigerator until firm. Garnish with whipped cream before serving. Serves 6.

Classy Hurling And SALICA RETAINS Comeback Of Dickey BANTAM CROWN Are Sparking Yanks BY LATE RALLY

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer
It's just like trying to make one and add up to three, but the fact remains that the New York Yankees are bouncing along up there in the American League driver's seat and Joe DiMaggio hasn't had much more to do with the streak that put them there than your Aunt Kate.

The Bronx Bombers pulled themselves into their old stamping grounds just as Joe tapered off his fence-sitting. Yesterday's 6-0 whitewashing of the Washington Senators, fashioned with fifty three-hit pitching by tiny Ernie Bonham, left the Yanks with a three-game winning string and one full game in the lead.

Yet, in those three games, Dynamic DiMag, the pitchers' poison, collected the grand total of one hit in 12 batting chances, drove in exactly two runs, fell out of the No. 1 spot among the league's apple-knockers. Which is like suddenly discovering your car is going along very nicely with the main bearing back home in the kitchen closet.

BILL DICKEY

If you're trying to figure it out, you can blame a lot of this sudden return of happy days to the Bronx on (1) the pitching staff, which boasts a completely new set of "hell cows," and (2) Wee Willie Dickey, long regarded as the chief cog in the Yankee machine, who has started to carry the mail again.

For the last couple of years, the Yanks' elbowing ensemble was largely Rufus the Red Ruffing. But Rufus the Red opened on a sour note this season, while your old pal Lefty Gomez has blossomed out once more like a bed of rhododendrons. And a couple of comparative newcomers—Bonham, who's called Tiny because he weighs a mere 205, and Marius Russo, southpaw pride of Long Island—are stepping right along with him. Two of these three have two victories against no defeats, and each did some fancy flinging to win one game in the current streak. They've given up only 21 hits and 5 runs.

Those Bean Balls HURT!

Baltimore, April 26.—(AP)—Lou Salica still sported the bantam-weight boxing crown today—but at none too jaunty an angle. The Brooklyn battler was almost dethroned by Lew Transparent in a 15-round title bout here last night and had to summon all his skill and power to gain a unanimous but hard-earned decision.

The Baltimore boy put up a terrific scrap and had a slight edge over Salica after 11 rounds. Then the champion rallied, sailed into Transparent with rights and lefts and had him on the verge of a knockout at the end.

That furious closing surge clinched the fight for Salica, Referee Charley Baum of Baltimore and the judges, Jim Bradlock, former heavyweight champion, and Ed Brockman of Baltimore, all voted for the 27-year-old titleholder.

It was a bitter disappointment for the 22-year-old Transparent. He defeated Salica in a non-title, over-weight match last month and had pointed for last night's fight as the climax of a gallant comeback campaign.

Salica weighed 117½, Transparent, 117¾.

SEAS AND FINISHES

KEYNOTE TO GOOD SLIP

The costume slip is worn more than most other women's garments. Because a slip is washed and ironed often, it must be built to take it.

Workmanship in a slip is important and affects its wearing qualities, says Mrs. Thelma Prenzgast, home economics extension representative, Warren county. The chief details of construction to check in selecting a slip on the counter are seams, top edge, and hem finish.

ENRICHED FLOUR GIVES EXTRA FOOD VALUES

From now on, homemakers everywhere are going to hear about Enriched Flour. Enriched wheat flour, to which has been added at least 1.6 milligram thiamin, 6.15 milligrams nicotine acid, both essential B-vitamins, and 6.15 milligrams of iron for each pound of flour. This is the standard and developed cooperatively by the Millers' National Federation and the Federal Food and Drug Administration.

Wheat flour always has been the most versatile energy-yielding food, but now with its enriched qualities it brings to the American diet some of the essential B-vitamins as well as iron, needed to insure buoyant, abundant health.

Thiamin, or B-1, is popularly called the "appetite vitamin." It has to do with the health of the nervous system and the digestive tract as well as being essential to growth, says Mrs. Thelma Prenzgast, home economics extension representative, Warren county.

It is difficult to count 10 tricks, but if we figure four club tricks,
the ace of hearts and two heart ruffs, the ace and king of spades and the long trump, we have 10 tricks. As there is no other choice that is the line of play to be followed.

The opening heart lead should be won with the ace, a small club led and the jack finessed. A trump should be won with the king and the second club led.

Now another trump trick should be cashed leaving only the queen at large. A heart should be ruffed in dummy and the five of clubs led and won with declarer's nine-spot.

Declarer's last heart can then be ruffed and a diamond discarded on dummy's good club. Nothing can prevent South from making another trump trick which gives him his contract.

forced to run three miles and to spread 1500 feet of hose.

Warren County Girl Scouts Start Health Project Here on May 1st

A health project in conjunction with the movement for national defense will be launched by the Warren County Girl Scout Council in a ceremony to take place on the steps of the municipal building at 4:30 o'clock next Thursday afternoon, May 1, which is Child Health Day, and has been designated by President Roosevelt as Americanism Day.

Enlistment in the personal health project is entirely voluntary, but it is hoped that every Brownie Scout, every Girl Scout and every adult in Girl Scouting in Warren borough will have signed one of the three scrolls which will be presented to Burgess R. W. Stecher in Thursday's ceremony.

Five health stations are to be used in carrying through the project, which will last for one year. The school board and borough council will furnish space for these stations.

For the first week or two, the project will operate forborough Scouts only but leaders in Russell, Spring Creek and Pittsfield have announced the intention of organizing health stations very soon.

STATE COLLEGE YOUNG PEOPLE TO SPEAK HERE

The First Presbyterian church is to have over the weekend a group of visitors from Pennsylvania State College. A delegation of five young people, members of the Westminster Foundation at State College, will arrive in town this evening, and will be entertained in the homes of members of the congregation.

They will speak at the session of the church school at 9:45 o'clock tomorrow morning. Then, in the morning worship service at eleven o'clock, they will have prominent parts in the service and will address the congregation of "A Message From the Campus".

No financial appeal will be made, as the Presbyterian church has already subscribed to the support of the Westminster Foundation. One purpose of the visit is to report on this work; but the principal purpose is to bring an inspiring message, from the standpoint of college Christian youth, to their friends in outstanding churches of the state. The public is cordially invited.

Work on this project was started in February. The first job given to women in general and to the Girl Scout organization in particular by the national defense commission was the betterment of family health and child health.

The plan to be used locally was devised by a health project committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. Nora Eaton. It was originated entirely in Warren, but much interest in it has been shown by Dr. Margaret Lewis, national advisor on health and safety for Girl Scouts.

All-round development of boys, young men and men is the purpose of the Warren Young Men's Christian Association, one of the seven agencies participating in the Community Chest which starts solicitation in its campaign for $41,000 next week.

An important part of the program to carry out this purpose is the formation of hobby clubs among boys of the association, such as the model airplane building group pictured above. This is but one of many similar groups which are formed in the boys' department to help the youth of the borough find expression for their men of the community.

STATE COLLEGE YOUNG PEOPLE TO SPEAK HERE

The First Presbyterian church is to have over the weekend a group of visitors from Pennsylvania State College. A deputation of five young people, members of the Westminster Foundation at State College, will arrive in town this evening, and will be entertained in the homes of members of the congregation.

They will speak at the session of the church school at 9:45 o'clock tomorrow morning. Then, in the morning worship service at eleven o'clock, they will have prominent parts in the service and will address the congregation of "A Message From the Campus".

No financial appeal will be made, as the Presbyterian church has already subscribed to the support of the Westminster Foundation. One purpose of the visit is to report on this work; but the principal purpose is to bring an inspiring message, from the standpoint of college Christian youth, to their friends in outstanding churches of the state. The public is cordially invited.

"What sort of a world will your family live in?"

Who can say? It may be a world beset by endless troubles. Or perhaps the great struggle now in progress will lead us into an era of peace and prosperity.

But come what may, there will be changes—in values, in securities, and in men's estates. To meet tomorrow's problems, provide the experienced management of a trustee who is in close touch with conditions.

We shall gladly tell you about our experience, and our facilities for keeping informed. We suggest that you make an appointment with our trust officer.
